

The intention behind Paralytic Embraces is to visualize restricted physical movement, predominantly found within relationships. I am interested in how the act of embracement may be seen as an expression of paralysis and dependence. Whereby the support felt from the embrace becomes an immobilizing comfortableness.